The outreach team has been experiencing the effects of recent problems with the economy including more people being evicted, an inadequate job market and more people needing assistance than they can serve. The team seems to be the “last resort” for housing and financial assistance as many other social service agencies refer people to them when they do not qualify for their agencies assistance or services.

As a part of the plan to improve communication as was discussed with the CCH, BNC is hosting a monthly meetings between all the community homeless service providers. The primary focus of these meetings is to develop a system to increase communication among providers in order to reduce duplication of services and increase collaboration among providers. Use of HMIS (Homeless Management Information System) has been identified as a way to assist with this process. The attending agencies are in the process of encouraging all to get on board on with using HMIS.
