

SPECIAL POPULATIONS PUTS ON AMERICA'S GOT TALENT PROGRAM

Last month, the participants in the Special Populations Acting 101 fall class held their end-of-class production at the Carnegie Building. This session they put on America's Got Talent, featuring several song and dance numbers and some skits. All of the enrollees had a part in the play. America's Got Talent was written by Gayla Berry, one of the Lawrence Parks and Recreation instructors. The night was fun-filled excitement with lots of laughs. Participants were judged by "Miley Cyrus," "Dolly Parton," and "John Travolta." After the production, participants received trophies for their hard work.

