How many tax dollars are the Alvamar developers asking for and why should taxpayers be forced to help this somewhat reckless development?

Shouldn't this project stand completely on its own two feet?

How do developers get away with having so many bedrooms left empty IF a mortgage exists?

Do developers make payments to financial institutions or pay their taxes to the community?

Is there reckless financing attached to this project?

Can this be explained at the City Commission meeting?

Shouldn't the city commission be the last word always instead of the planning department?

Sandra-

As a home owner on the Alvamar golf course, I am excited about the potential sale to the development group. Alvamar is a great asset for the city and this sale will help it regain its prominence as premiere club in our state.

Thank you for including my comments in the record.

Best,
